

ARTFLYER

ARTFLYER, a new art space dedicated to contemporary visual art, opened its doors on Wednesday, June 23, 2021 in Kifissia, Athens Greece.

Already active for a decade, www.artflyer.net, a cutting-edge network for research and presentation of contemporary art, is now taking on physical form.

Alexia Antsakli-Vardinoyanni's initiative is aimed at engaging visitors with contemporary art, giving opportunities to young artists, and generating a fruitful dialogue between innovative contemporary artists and the Greek public.

Participating in the opening show, entitled 'The Tenth Anniversary', are the top Greek and international artists and influential figures in the arts who have been featured on www.artflyer.net- including Adel Abdessemed, Ron Arad, Tony Cragg, Urs Fischer, Jacques Grange, Dakis Joannou, Marina Karella, Mary Katrantzou, Harold Koda, Christian Louboutin, Jean-Michel Othoniel, Nicolas Party, Laudomia Pucci, Imran Qureshi, David Shrigley, Kiki Smith, Joana Vasconcelos, Bethan Laura Wood, Erwin Wurm - with a work of art or a personal item that represents them and has decisively influenced their creative expression. Rare creations from the worlds of art, fashion and design, as well as objects of singular value, being presented for the first time in a collective, innovative show. Photographs and quotations taken from the www.artflyer.net interviews are on display in the gallery garden to enhance the exhibition.

ARTFLYER is housed in a neoclassical building - built by Panagis Lorentzatos, professor of Philology at the University of Athens - in the heart of Kifissia.
